

TRAVIS CREDIT UNION

Financial Wellness In These Challenging Times

Travis Credit Union has been helping members reach their financial goals since October 1951. Our focus on "People Helping People" has never been more important than in the year 2020, when families, individuals and businesses struggled to cope with the effects of the global COVID-19 pandemic in ways not seen for a century. This required the credit union to redouble our efforts to provide financial wellness in these challenging times.

In 2020, we made our branches safer for members and employees by following CDC guidelines for infection control and non-contact transactions. Equally important, we made it easier for people to do business with us online.

To help those who were struggling, the credit union offered various financial relief initiatives for members as well as donated funds to non-profits facing long-term economic challenges as a result of the pandemic. In the meantime, Travis continued to grow and remain fiscally responsible.

This 2020 Annual Report highlights our financial stability and the ways we helped our members and our communities with financial wellness through these challenging times.

Thank you for your membership.

The year 2020 will not easily be forgotten. The COVID-19 pandemic forced individuals, families and businesses to rethink how they do things, and Travis Credit Union was no exception. With people needing our help more than ever to cope with the mounting financial losses caused by the pandemic, Travis responded by assisting members in new and creative ways. Just like the founders of our credit union 70 years ago, we're here to help with your financial needs in good times and bad.

Responding to COVID-19

Last year, the credit union acted quickly to ensure that our branches and corporate offices were safe for our members and employees. We followed CDC guidelines in requiring that face masks be worn, implemented social distancing measures and emphasized the need for washing our hands and sanitizing workstations.

While we limited the number of people inside our branches for their safety, we focused on improving our digital tools to make it even easier to do business with us. Last year, more members became familiar with how to use our Online Banking and Mobile Banking tools, which offered them a welcome alternative to visiting a branch.

Charitable Efforts

TCU created more value for our members and the local community last year by implementing multiple financial relief initiatives for community partners providing essential services. We distributed more than $3 million as part of the COVID-19 Member Relief Program. Travis also raised funds to assist its employees and the communities impacted by the local LNU Complex Fire.

Despite all of the unexpected challenges in 2020, Travis remained focused on its bottom line. We experienced record growth in loans, deposits and products. TCU remains well-capitalized, and our net worth remains well above the standards required by regulators. This financial position keeps us ready for more of the unexpected in the months and years to come.

As we enter our 70th year in 2021, Travis Credit Union will continue to champion the financial wellness of our members.

Thank you for your membership.

The Impact Of Our Awesome Cause

In 2020, there were more opportunities than in TCU's 70-year history to create value for our members and local communities. Travis Credit Union rapidly implemented COVID-19 Member Relief Programs that included emergency loans, deferred mortgage payments, waived fees, and deferred payments on loans. In a nine-month span, TCU and the Travis Credit Union Foundation also funded multiple financial relief initiatives for the communities we serve.

Here are some of their stories:

"The $36,000 received from the Travis Credit Union Foundation will allow Monument Crisis Center in 2021 to provide thousands of local families the nutritious food and basic essentials including toiletries, diapers and feminine products—all lifesaving supplies during this pandemic. Donations like this and those from the community mean the world to us and to those that we are supporting."

- Sandra Scherer, executive director, Monument Crisis Center

"We sincerely appreciate the support of the Travis Credit Union Foundation. This gift will allow us to expand access to Hospice Care in Solano County, invest in physical education and in the development of the Deferred Grief Support Program [supporting those who were unable to be with a loved one at the time of death or to grieve with others at funerals and memorial services during the pandemic]. Thank you for your generosity."

- Jeanne Dennis, executive director, North Bay at Home and Hospice and Bereavement

"I wanted to send an additional thank you to Travis Credit Union for the generous grant of $10,000 you provided for West County READS, and share the ways in which we are utilizing these funds. Your funding also allowed us to continue supporting the City of San Pablo's Family Giving party for low-income families from the elementary schools and Helms Middle.

- Robin Wilson, West County READS

"Empower Yolo is truly appreciative to be a grant recipient of the Travis Credit Union Foundation's COVID-19 Relief Initiative. We are using the funding for eviction prevention for families hit hardest by the pandemic. Even though there are moratoriums on evictions, we know that if families get behind now, they won't be able to catch up."

- Lynnette Irlmeier, executive director, Empower Yolo

"CASA is serving more foster children than ever before, which has been especially important during the pandemic. Thank you for your generous grant of $27,670 that was made possible by the community of donors who gave to our organization through the COVID-19 Relief Initiative, and a matching donation from TCU. Your support will go a long way towards mitigating some of the stress through that program, to ensure that children are successful in school and have the physical and emotional care they need to become healthy, independent adults."

- Ann Wrixon, executive director, CASA of Contra Costa County
