ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS DISCLOSURE

Please read this Electronic Communications Disclosure ("eCommunications Disclosure") thoroughly, as it contains important information about your legal rights. This eCommunications Disclosure covers all of your accounts, products, and services with Travis Credit Union ("TCU"), either currently or in the future, through Online Banking (whether accessed through a personal computer or mobile device, sometimes referred to as "Mobile Banking"), our website, or other electronic means. This includes, but is not limited to, the following account, product, and service types: share deposit accounts, credit card, loan, and other services. The words "I", "you" and "your" mean each account holder, product owner and/or service user identified on an account, product or service.

Your Legal Rights

TCU is required to provide certain communication to you in writing, which means you have a right to receive that information on paper. We may provide such information to you electronically if we obtain your consent to receive the information electronically. Your consent will also apply to any other person named on your account, product or service, subject to applicable law. Since certain of our accounts, products or services are provided online and use electronic means to deliver some of this information, you must consent to this eCommunications Disclosure in order to use these services. At times, we may still send you paper communications, but as a basic proposition we need to know that you are willing to receive communications electronically that we may otherwise be required to provide on paper and that you have the hardware and software needed to access to this information.
